

THINK SAFETY FIRST

COURTESY WORKS: You are responsible for any injury or property damage caused by your wake. Be aware of your wake when passing any marine facility where vessels are docked, moored, launched, or retrieved, or when operating in any congested area.

BOAT SAFE – BOAT SOBER: The Stamford Police Department's Harbor Unit, U.S. Coast Guard, and CT DEEP Law Enforcement Division are partnering to get intoxicated boaters off the water this summer.

BOATING LAWS: Registration of your vessel and learning the laws of boating are essential for safe boating. You are required by law to have your CT Safe Boating Certificate on board at all times while operating your vessel. Consult the current CT Boater's Guide. (www.ct.gov/deep)

SAFETY EQUIPMENT: It is your responsibility to have the safety equipment required by law, to keep it on board in good condition, and know how to properly use it. There must be a wearable life jacket for each person aboard your vessel.

GIVE COMMERCIAL TRAFFIC A WIDE BERTH: Stamford Harbor is a commercial harbor with frequent tug and barge traffic. A tug towing or pushing a barge is restricted in its ability to maneuver and therefore has the right of way over all other vessels.

“Good seamanship is defined as having sufficient intelligence, experience, and foresight to avoid circumstances demanding same.”
