

School Recycling Competition

Keep America Beautiful, the nation's leading nonprofit that brings people together to build and sustain vibrant communities, announced the Connecticut winner of the "Recycle-Bowl," a comprehensive nationwide recycling competition for elementary, middle and high school students. The Recycle-Bowl, sponsored by Nestlé Waters North America, reached more than 900,000 students across America, with schools in all 50 states and the District of Columbia competing.

First place in Connecticut went to Westhill High School, where students recycled 3.56 pounds of waste per student. Westhill earned $1,000 in prize money for the school, which will be awarded at a special ceremony in early April.

The Solid Waste and Recycling Department entered all Stamford Public Schools in the competition, which was held from October 15 through November 9, 2012.

Nationwide, 4.5 million pounds of recyclables were recovered during the 2012 competition, which in turn prevented the release of nearly 1,717 metric tons of carbon dioxide. In real-world terms, this reduction in greenhouse gases is equivalent to the annual emissions from 334 passenger cars.

Recycle-Bowl by the Numbers:

- 1,577 schools registered
- 901,500 students participated in the competition
- 4.5 million pounds of recyclables were recovered
- On average, 5.62 pounds of material was collected per person during the four weeks of the competition, although the first place winners at Taylor Primary in Kokomo, Indiana recycled 47 pounds of material per person.

A full list of winners can be found at www.Recycle-Bowl.org.

ASK DAN...

This column provides answers to some of the most common questions regarding Stamford's recycling.

Q: Are ceramic pots recyclable?

A: No, they need to be donated, re-used, or placed in the garbage.

Q: Can stained/torn clothing go into the Goodwill containers at the recycling centers?

A: Yes, all clothing is either reused or broken down and made into rags or other items. Please dispose of all clothing and fabrics in the containers at the recycling centers instead of throwing them into the trash.
